I recall it vividly. In Atlanta the day after Lennon was killed, WATL/channel 36 ran a two-and-a-half hour marathon of the Beatles cartoons in place of their usual kidvid fare (they normally ran weekdays at 4:30 under the name The Beatles and Cool McCool).

My mistake on the Charles Osgood "The Dream Is Over" segment; it aired the following night.

this would be the premiere for The Ananda Lewis Show, the day before 9/11.

Thank you @PhillyNewsLover!

I thought KYW had moved Guiding Light to 10AM by this point but maybe that didn't happen until 2002ish?

The 10:00 News on WLYH was produced by WHP at the time and they did so for quite a few years before it was cancelled.

You're welcome!

I'm not sure what was aired at 10a - the paper listed "To Be Announced", which is what I put here. I know the season before they had a rerun of Sally in that slot. Obviously it wasn't Guiding Light since that was still on at 3p.

Retro: Columbus-Tupelo-Birmingham-Tuscaloosa - May 4, 1998

How is it possible that WBRC and WVTM both air Wheel of Fortune at 6:30?

I don't know. It wasn't a mistake on my part - that's what the paper listed.

Couple of observations:

1.WDBB, being a translator of WTTO, ran the same programs as that station except for a few local programs seen only on WDBB.

2.WABM was actually a UPN affiliate at that point

They were not. They were an independent from March to August 1998.

Sinclair (WABM's owner then and now) disaffiliated many of its stations from UPN during most of 1998, as Sinclair had switched some of those stations to The WB at the beginning of '98. WABM and Milwaukee's WCGV were back with UPN at the start of the '98-99 TV season.

Actually, before March 1998, WABM was a UPN affiliate

I know that. That doesn't disprove my statement.

I know it doesn't. I was just stating the station's history.

The "actually" made it seem like you were.

Hal March may have still been hosting It's Your Bet at the time as Wikipedia (not always 100% correct) says that he taped the first 13 weeks of shows, and with a premiere date in September, November 10 would have been in that period.

Thanks for that corrective info. It was actually Game Shows Fandom that was my main source. I also failed to take notice that it was actually Dick Gautier, not Tom Kennedy, who first replaced Hal March.

I still find it odd that Full House, an ABC show, aired on NBC daytime in the summer of 1991. I can't think of any other shows that aired on one network in prime time but aired on another network in daytime at the same time (although FH was in summer reruns on ABC)

ABC was going to air reruns of Mary Tyler Moore to replace the short-lived Bill Cullen game show Blankety Blanks but CBS said no.

Here is a promo for Full House reruns on NBC Daytime from 1991. From what I've read, they only aired episodes from seasons 2-4 & only between the Summer-Fall of 1991, when the show went into off network syndication.

Great lineup thanks

Thank you so much! I'm now putting up the schedule from Memphis from August 16, 1977.

Will you please find more TV schedules from New York City for me.

Got any dates in mind?

Wait! I have one: November 10, 1969, the day Sesame Street premiered.

Man, the early '80s were some weird days.

I do remember getting both WOR and WPIX on cable back then and watching the Barry & Enright games off channel 9.

Some takes...

Channel 2 runs an old Quincy at 11:30 p.m. I guess there wasn't room to include all the late night movies after midnight. But I think by the late 1960s, WCBS-TV was running nearly 24 hours a day. Those movies usually ended 30-60 minutes before 6 a.m. to do some transmitter maintenance. And by 1980, WOR-TV and WPIX may also have 24 hour schedules, since they served as cable superstations.

Channel 5 runs I Love Lucy twice a day. It's one of the few black and white shows still on the schedule in 1980.

Channel 11 runs the Buddy Hackett version of You Bet Your Life at 12:30pm. Of course, Groucho Marx was the original host and WPIX had run the black and white 1950s show well into the 1970s. Then Hackett gave it a try. Then Bill Cosby. Neither was successful. Jay Leno & Kevin Eubanks are currently doing You Bet Your Life. I think this one is a success, getting runs these days on Channel 5 at 7 p.m. and on Channel 9 at 12 a.m.

Richard Dawson also made an attempt at YBYL in 1988, but it didn't even make it past the pilot.

We've all seen the coverage of Cosell breaking the news of Lennon's death on "Monday Night Football". How did the other networks and stations handle the news?

NBC interrupted the intro of The Tonight Show with staff announcer Fred Facey (who voiced the Today Show and Nightly News intros). As for CBS, I don't know whether they did a Special Report with Walter Cronkite or some other anchor around that hour, but I do know the following night, they aired a special "The Dream is Over" with Charles Osgood. I'd sure like to see footage from CNN, which was then in its infancy.

What other NYC TV channels signed off in 1980?.

Wouldn't know. I wasn't living there.

Retro: Miami - May 11, 1981

As most of you know, this was the day and place that reggae icon Bob Marley died of cancer. Here's what was running on Miami's stations that day.

G.i. Joe the movie was already being shown on local channels when it just came out in theaters that year?

Actually, it was a direct-to-video animated movie, in which it would later be aired on local channels.

Ah, my 25th birthday and from my native neck of the woods (originally from Santa Maria). Now KCOY is Dabl and CBS is on KEYT-DT2.

What a coincidence for me to choose that date. For me, the highlight of that date were those game show premieres. The original KCOY still is a CBS station BTW.

RabbitEars shows CBS on 3.2; they just brand themselves as NewsChannel 12 under the KCOY call. 12.1 shows as the digit 12.

News 12 was KCOY's brand during that date.

Addendum: The guests on Password Plus were Dick Martin and Betty White, in her first guest appearance since the passing of her husband and original host Allen Ludden from June 9 of that year.

I also goofed on Hal Fishman and Debby Davison being news anchors on KHJ 9. It should be Nathan Roberts and Deborah Cutter.

That mention/inclusion of KVIO is incorrect as KVIO was a satellite of KVIA out of El Paso at that time.

KVIO didn't become a satellite of KOAT when it was sold off by KVIA's owners and became KOCT in 1993.

Oy vey

Why do you say that?

Thats quite the schedule of...something ☹️☹️

Are you okay with it? I like to be pretty generic for schedules sometimes.

I'm neutral. Just laughing at it mostly. Like a weird and not altogether good UHF station.

It's not exactly high-brow, intellectual entertainment, is it? But hey, that's why they called the network USA, right?

It's not exactly high-brow, intellectual entertainment, is it? But hey, that's why they called the network USA, right?

I'll give you that. I had to check the meaning of "Oy vey", and it wasn't a positive definition. I'm fragile about being slammed.

It's not YOU being slammed,. But that lineup...oy, vey!

Heck of a lot better than what USA is now!

It's in transition to being primarily sports, it seems, given that Comcast/Universal/NBC pulled the plug on NBCSN at the end of 2021. Unless the ultimate plan is to move all the sports to Peacock. NBC doesn't have much marquee sports programming anymore outside of the NFL and the Olympics.

1:30 NFL '81

2:00 NFL AFC Championship - Oakland Raiders vs. San Diego Chargers

That would actually be NFL '80, because that AFC Final is for the 1980 season, and this is a Jan. 1981 schedule (NBC named its NFL/AFC studio coverage then after the year of the season they were covering [this was done for 10 seasons, from 1977 through 1986]).

I figured that would be it. Makes more sense. However, your YouTube link is a blocked one by NFL.

On this forum, yes-- there is, however, a link that says "Watch on YouTube," meaning they want you to go to the actual YouTube site to see it; try that.

Would you have any listing from the 1961-1962 time frame?

Any particular date?

Any week day would be fine.

Just put up the entire Bay Area schedule (channels 2, 4, 5, 7, 9) from May 26, 1961.

Many thanks!!!!

Pretty typical lineup from that era. Does anyone know if "Bewitched" back included the B&W episodes?

I imagine so, depending on what part of the series were reran at that timeframe.

When Bewitched went into syndication (from Columbia Pictures Television) in September of 1973, the Black And White episodes were Initially included, however when distribution shifted to DFS Program Exchange in 1982, the new syndication package only included the Color episodes. The Black And White episodes were not seen again until the fall of 1989 when Nick-At-Nite began airing them. Initially Nick-At-Nite only aired the Black And White episodes until the spring of 1998, when the color episodes were added to the rotation.

1:00 Dialing for Dollars Movie - Pat McCormick

Pat McCormick was a very talented guy. "Charley and Humphrey" was a favorite show growing up. There's even a comic book series available now featuring the two puppets. CHARLEY & HUMPHREY #1 (NOV211051)

KQED has a nice article about the show.

The Inside Story of 'Charley and Humphrey'—and the Brilliance of Pat McCormick | KQED

Forty years after they left the Bay Area airwaves, this horse and bulldog still have a huge following. Here's why.

McCormick also did the weather on 2 for many years, bringing his sense of humor with him.

Most of these shows never aired in 1990 like America's Most Wanted or America's Funniest Home Videos 5 days a week or Ricki Lake. Looks like maybe 1995 or 1996.

It's 1995

I wondered, because The Late Show on CBS at 11:35 didn't start until 1993, so I didn't think it was 1990.

I always thought AMW was just a Saturday thing...

America's Most Wanted started out as a 30 minute show on Sunday nights for the first year or two then they moved it to Friday nights for a few years before it aired on Saturday Nights paired with Cops.

Ah, okay. Only recalled seeing it Saturdays. Guess my memory's flimsy?

What was NBC Wheel doing on this station? I know daytime programs have been shipped off to independents/even early Fox affiliates, but how did ABC allow this?

WNEM-TV did not clear the daytime Wheel of Fortune at the time, so I believe WJRT-TV cleared it with permission from NBC.

It might have helped that WJRT had syndicated Wheel as well

I had that thought as well...imagine the promotion they could have done! "Watch Wheel of Fortune - Twice on Twelve!"

Entertainment Tonight and the original People's Court were two shows that moved around a lot across the L.A. TV dials, especially back at that time. With ET, if I remember the chronology correctly--it debuted on KTLA, and then as noted above, moved to KNBC for a year or so, and then KTTV for a few years, and KNBC gets it back in 1986, and has aired on KCBS since fall 1994.

Judge Wapner and his associates (Doug Llewelyn and Rusty Burrell, the baliff) were on, at some point, every VHF station in Los Angeles with the exception of KNBC. I remember in the later years of the Wapner edition, People's Court bounced back-and-forth, it seemed like every couple of years between KHJ/KCAL and KCOP. KCBS did have the final season, plus there was also a "best of" package that aired alongside the newer episodes in many markets.

Even Tic-Tac-Dough and The Joker's Wild moved back-and-forth between Channels 9 and 13 during the courses of their runs in Los Angeles. Reruns of Barney Miller also...I believe the reruns of that show moved to KCOP within a year or two of this listing.

News with Hank Plante on KHJ9. That is interesting because I mainly heard of Hank Plante during his time at KPIX-TV in San Francisco in the 80's and 1990's.

Now Hank Plante has moved back to Southern California in the Palm Springs area in retirement.

10:00 News 5 - Jim Ruddle

Correct me if I'm wrong, but wasn't Floyd Kalber still anchoring at 10 on Channel 5 at that time?

I just checked the archives, and yes you're right, it WAS Floyd Kalber.

Just checked again, and the January 11 listings have Jim Ruddle. Apparently, Ruddle was anchoring for that week in that slot.

"All in the Family" would premiere the following evening at 8:30 CT on CBS.

On WBBM 2 for Chicago.

Historic note: Channels 20 and 26 broadcasted entirely in black & white. The former went dark in mid-1974, the latter switched to color on New Year's Eve of that year.

Rand, you were born on Monday of Super Bowl Week V. A battle of the blues (airing on WMAQ in ChiTown). The (Baltimore) Colts beat the Dallas Cowboys at the Orange Bowl. Happy Belated Birthday!

Re Chs. 20 and 26*, did Chicago's Ch. 20 return to the air at some later date?

*Wash., DC has that pair of channels too.

Ch. 20 returned in 1983 as WYCC. Check out my chronologies of TV stations in different markets here.

Of course this was the day that Elvis Presley died, so how much programming was pre-empted that day

That's why I made this schedule. I've also listed the New York City schedule from the day John Lennon died there. I wouldn't know for sure about the pre-emptions though.

Source: Memphis Commercial Appeal; *WHBQ (ABC) lists "Eyewitness News" at 8:00 am and its local talk show "Straight Talk" at 8:05. Accuracy is uncertain since "Good Morning America" has always been a two-hour program.

A number of ABC affiliates only cleared the first hour of GMA for a few years. Looks like WHBQ was airing the ABC reruns of Happy Days and Family Feud either a day or week behind at 9:00 to make room for the Dialing for Dollars movie.

RandTV said:

10:30 CBS Late Night Movie: A Night to Remember (1970)

It has always been my impression (based on what I've read over the years) that WREG never cleared The CBS Late Movie. WREG apparently cleared it here. However, the movie listed, A Night to Remember, is likely from 1958, not 1970. I can't find any reference to a movie with that title that was made in 1970. I have confirmed that this is was a network showing and not a mislabeled syndicated movie.

That was my mistake. It WAS 1958. I can see WHBQ didn't clear the ABC Goodson-Todman game show The Better Sex, hosted by Bill Anderson and Sarah Purcell.

WREG had carried local late movies for years and may have carried the CBS Late Movie for a time in the late 70's. But in the 80's they switched to syndicated reruns of MASH and later Cheers and didn't carry any of CBS's late night programming until David Letterman moved there in 1993.

I can see WHBQ didn't clear the ABC Goodson-Todman game show The Better Sex, hosted by Bill Anderson and Sarah Purcell.

Likewise, they didn't clear $20,000 Pyramid, WMC didn't clear Wheel of Fortune and Hollywood Squares, and WREG didn't clear Tattletales.

WMC was the worst about pre-emptions in from the late 70's to the early 90's especially in the daytime. WHBQ was bad at times but usually anything I wanted to see that wasn't there would be on WBBJ 7 in Jackson. WREG usually only pre-empted the 3 PM CT slot for movies until CBS dropped that slot anyway. The only time I didn't like that was when Match Game and later Press Your Luck ran at that time.

As for "Happy Days" and "Family Feud", WHBQ aired the two shows on a one week delay. "Ryan's Hope" was pre-empted during this period, and "Good Morning America" was only one hour until 1978, when WHBQ cleared most of the ABC daytime schedule.

I think this is the first example that I've ever seen of a station tape-delaying the 9AM hour of network shows to 6AM the next day (or maybe the next week). I'm a little surprised CBS allowed that.

I've seen the hour tape-delayed a day behind from airing an hour earlier, but this is a first at 6AM. I guess it was better than not carrying the hour at all.

1. Okay, so I got the dates for all three of my Albany threads wrong. I was able to correct the dates on two of them, but not this one because I missed the 60-minute time limit. Is there any way I can delete the original of this thread after I repost the corrected version?

2. On a related note, why is there a time limit on how long you can edit your own posts? You should be able to edit them forever, like on other forums.

I agree. In my opinion, the time limit is an unnecessary "solution" to an imaginary "problem." In fact, it increases clutter on here, rather than reducing it. I'm not convinced as to why this limit should exist. I hope this feedback is taken seriously.

Why are you saying "Indies" for?

Because back then, WXXA and WUSV were independent stations that were not affiliated with a network.

For 1990, a major network affiliate running Scooby Doo? Bewitched? Alvin and the freaking chipmunk? Yikes.

Wasn't KIMT airing The Disney Afternoon until it ended?

They did, but in the Susquehanna Valley, WPMT Fox 43 aired The Disney Afternoon until it ended in 1997, when WPMT just aired 101 Dalmatians: The Series, Mighty Ducks & Quack Pack, while WLYH aired DuckTales.

No Guiding Light?

Guiding Light aired on the default CBS affiliate for the Susquehanna Valley, WHP-TV 21.

This schedule apparently came from before WREG went infomercial crazy on late nights and non-sports time on weekends. They used to be the best station in Memphis about not being infomercial crazy. I think that started when they were bought by Local TV and later Tribune. Even now Nexstar isn't much better. :mad:

12:00 That's My Mama

Oops, I misspelled "MacGyver"!

Surprised how many short lived and older sitcoms, from "Gidget" to "I Married Joan" are on these schedules. (I saw "Greatest American Hero" a lot on weekends, but never as a weekday offering.) Plus, how hard up for money and programming was WGBO to air "That's My Mama" twice a day? Hey at least it's not infomercials!

Source: Chicago Tribune, of course.

WPWR had bought out WBBS on 60, and WFLD was starting their Fox O&O days in 1986. Channels 60 and 66 just couldn't compete with Channels 9 and 32 in the era of thumbwheel tuning on VCRs and click-tuners on UHF. WPWR's move to Channel 50 in 1987 helped them, but WGBO switched to Spanish-language programming by the mid-1990s.

This was during the period when WPTY carried delayed WB programming after nightline, and once Jimmy Kimmel premiered they delayed his show until after the WB programming. Later in 2003 the delayed WB programming moved to WLMT (Formerly UPN) 30 when Clear channel bought WLMT.

I found it odd that KABC tape-delayed Monday Night Baseball, even with the local Dodgers playing!

Dodgers won that game, 3-2, back when the Braves were bottomfeeders.

Actually from a quick check on newspapers.com, tape delay of ABC's Monday Night Baseball on the West Coast was standard back then. I'm shocked anybody in the PTZ bothered watching; did they ever change this?

What surprised me about "Big Blue Marble" was although it's listed on a PBS station here I remember seeing it on an NBC affiliate growing up. Turns out it was syndicated to commercial and public stations! What other programs did this?

Quite a few PBS shows aired on non-PBS stations in nationwide, including Villa Alegre, Carrascalendas, Vegetable Soup, and even Sesame Street where there was no local PBS station for the latter's case.

Remembering various programs on KPBS San Diego, they're worth watching, BUT they're worth supporting!!

That's a pretty weak schedule for WOR isn't it? Programs with such generic titles as "The Great Record Album Collection" and "Top 40 Videos"? Reruns of "Laugh-In"? Movies you've never heard of? Sounds like a lesser UHF in Spokane, WA than the Big Apple. And to think it was a nationally seen superstation up there with WGN and WTBS.

I can understand and sympathize.

Does anyone know the true story behind Channel 9's refusal to air CBS game shows?

One factor of course Carol Randolph's long running local morning show (a local DC forerunner to Oprah actually) titled Morning Break here was pretty popular and successful until 1986 when not only did Gannett take control of WDVM but also cancelled Randolph's show in favor of Oprah.

Of course a substantial amount of the DC market technically wasn't entirely without Price is Right as next door neighbor WBAL carried it.

I suspected that the manager(s) simply despised game shows. Thanks for clarifying.

With at least one of WBAL and WTVR available OTA and on cable in most of the DC market, WDVM felt like they could pre-empt TPIR and other CBS game shows

I forgot that KCTV was still airing Married... With Children in 2001. I think that this may have also been the last year that they carried Seinfeld as well. It appears that the Late, Late Show with Craig Kilborn wasn't being cleared either, along with Wheel of Fortune among other TV shows that KCTV had at the time.

Pretty sure CBS preempted "The Late Late Show" on this night due to NCAA coverage pushing everything back. There are other CBS affiliate schedules posted for this date and none include "The Late Late Show."

Correction regarding Frank Reynolds: his final ABC World News Tonight broadcast was on May 17, and was substituted by David Brinkley on May 25.

Source: Vanderbilt University News Archive

Disregard that correction! I was right the first time about Reynolds' final broadcast being April 20!

11:30 Late Night with David Letterman - Guests: Viasta Krsek (polka queen), Boytarian (Hungarian country & western group)

This has got to be the most bizarre guest list for a major network talk show ever. Was this some sort of theme night?

Wish I knew the answer to that. I was only 12 back then.

Disregard that correction! I was right the first time about Reynolds' final broadcast being April 20

That's what the "Broadcasting" magazine archives from the time say, so that's pretty definitive.

LATE NIGHT

12:00 INN Independent News

Just curious but was KMVT of Twin Falls included as well? I wouldn't mind seeing if possible, thanks!

On the Bench in Boise (and areas East) with the right antenna you could watch KMVT 11.

Was nice when Boise only had 2 & 7 and 11 would run more ABC programs.

I chose only the Boise/Nampa stations because the Times-News is the only available source on newspapers.com with those stations in that market I was living in at the time. But I think I can throw in KMVT for you.

Sure that would be fun if you can. I worked in Twin Falls from '95-'97 and made good relations with KMVT despite being with another media source haha so I was curious how their schedule went in the 80's.

Here's KMVT's schedule the following day, Saturday, May 25, 1985:

MORNING

6:00 Snorks

6:30 Pink Panther and Sons

7:00 Smurfs

8:30 Alvin and the Chipmunks

9:00 Kidd Video

9:30 Mister T

10:00 Spider-Man and His Amazing Friends

10:30 Incredible Hulk

11:00 MLB Baseball: Chicago White Sox vs. Kansas City Royals

AFTERNOON

2:00 NBC SportsWorld: NBC Sports Fantasies

4:00 Views

4:30 NBC Nightly News - Connie Chung

5:00 US Farm Report

5:30 Magic Valley Almanac

EVENING

6:00 Diff'rent Strokes

6:30 Double Trouble

<switching from NBC to CBS>

7:00 Cover Up

8:00 Airwolf

9:00 Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer

10:00 Simon & Simon

<back to NBC>

11:00 Saturday Night Live - Host: Harry Anderson; Musical Guest: Bryan Adams

By '85 they'd dropped ABC programming.

Since your name is boiseengineer, would you happen to know the complete Boise cable channel lineup from the 1984-85 season?

Thanks for the Saturday schedule, here's the link to Boise's 1982 cable channel lineup which was the closest I could find for you:

LOL I noticed KOVR pre-empted One Life to Live to show a second airing of To Tell the Truth at 1:30PM (first airing was at 12:30) Given that both One Life and General Hospital were 45 mins at the time, I wonder what aired between 2-2:15. A news break maybe? 15 minutes of commercials lol?

Their 45 minute stints lasted from July 26, 1976 to January 16, 1978. That evens them out, doesn't it?

Oh I meant since KOVR didn't air One Life to Live, it left a 15 minute gap before General Hospital started at 2:15. So I was wondering what KOVR did to fill the gap.

Turned out the SF Sunday Examiner & Chronicle's TV schedule (which I got much of this from) most likely made an error on KOVR's 1:30 slot with To Tell the Truth. Too bad I can't fix it again.

Oh my! No worries but that would explain the mystery lol. I knew KOVR had a history of not airing some programs as both a ABC and a CBS station so I had assumed something was amok. I did see they didn't air All My Children until 3:30, after Edge of Night.

All My Children expanded to an hour in April 1977 a month later so I wonder how they aired that one too.

That error BTW only appeared on March 17. Every other day was correctly listed.

March 17, 1977 is the date where many PBS stations including KPBS San Diego continue with Festival '77(March 1977 Membership Pledge Campaign) which ends on Sunday March 20, 1977!! Some Great Things to See on Public TV!!!

You missed Ch. 20 & 26

There was hardly anything listed for Ch. 20 which mostly listed their Spanish programming as Spanish News, Novelas, or Movies without naming them. And there weren't any listings for Ch. 26 which was then in its infancy.

Interesting to see that as late as 1977 that Tattletales cleared in Sacramento on the NBC station and not either the CBS station or an independent. In the early 60s, our ABC station (then WLW-A Atlanta) would clear CBS morning shows and NBC's Tonight Show.

I forgot to list "News" (local) for channel 10 at 6:30 PM. We watched that just before Concentration.

Induction #18: Three's A Crowd

I couldn't agree more with that! I wonder if any couples who were on that show got separated or divorced as a result of their appearance?

You're missing Channel 20, 26, 32

I've already mentioned at the top that I'd only be covering the major high-powered stations, for there was hardly anything high-profile in those stations you've listed. I hope that doesn't too discriminatory to you. If it does, I most humbly apologize.

Did any other station carry Price is Right? I'd think KPIX would have chosen to air it at 9am instead of the Jeffersons reruns and Celebrity Whew!.

If you lived in the North Bay or East Bay (where I was living at the time), you could still catch The Price is Right on the Sacramento CBS affiliate KTXV 10 (now ABC), which interestingly enough did not air Whew!, but repeats of the Liar's Club (w/ Allen Ludden), and prior to that, repeats of The Joker's Wild from its first syndicated season (1977-78).

At some point in 1977-78, channel 44 carried 'TPIR', but after that, the Bay Area was shut out until whenever KTZO picked it up(1981?)

Now that I don't remember. I'll check in the papers to out about 44. As for 20 picking up TPIR for the first time, the earliest date I found happened to be December 8, 1980.

Thanks! If you have listings for June 20, 1980 handy, could you confirm if KRON aired the last episode of NBC's 'Hollywood Squares'?

I'm enjoying these Bay Area/Sac flashbacks!

That was indeed the final day not only for Hollywood Squares, but also High Rollers, and Chain Reaction.

The cancellation of Chain Reaction was Fred Silverman's payback at Bob Stewart for having "Hit Shows on NBC" as a bogus subject on the finale of The $20,000 Pyramid.

That was the week after BTW.

Yeah, 'Pyramid' ended on June 27. Bad timing, coming early in summer vacation.

11:16 Movie: "The Big Broadcast of 1936" (1936, Musical) - Jack Oakie, Ethel Merman, Bing Crosby, Burns & Allen (Yes, that is the correct time for this listing)

The generic 'cartoons' listing included stuff like 'George of the Jungle', 'Tom Slick' and 'Super Chicken', and some of the second-tier 60s Hanna-Barbera stuff (Magilla, Quickdraw, Ricochet Rabbit).

I remember seeing those first three for the first time last fall on KTLA 5 as part of Sunday's Popeye and Friends hosted by Tom Hatten. They also played The Little Rascals and Top Cat as part of that show.

Here is the aircheck of KGSC transition to KICU-TV. I remember hearing that KICU-TV's call letters were previously used for a Fresno station until that was shut down in 1968.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/KICU-TV_\(Visalia,_California\))

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/KICU-TV>

I remember it being called "The Perfect 36" during the KGSC era. I left the Bay Area about seven months before it became KGSC, but we still subscribed to the SF Chronicle. That was where I learned about its TV schedule.

'The Jeffersons', 'Alice', and 'One Day At A Time' were all on the CBS daytime lineup, presumably not cleared on KXTV.

As I understand it, 'People Are Talking' had regional versions(the format originated in Boston). It's more likely that a new station with no news department might have picked up the show from elsewhere . I hated the KPIX 'People Are Talking' when I was a kid.

KXTV pre-empted The Jeffersons and Alice for the then-new Hour Magazine. As for People Are Talking, it was on the Group W stations (KPIX San Francisco, WBZ Boston, WJZ Baltimore, KDKA Pittsburgh, KYW Philadelphia).

12:00 INN News

As an 8 year old in 1983, this schedule brings back a lot of memories. I'd forgotten that "Real People" had edited reruns, or the "Lie Detector" show.

According to "Broadcasting Magazine", Reynolds' last appearance on ABC World News Tonight was April 20 1983.

Within a few months the Curtis/Sawyer CBS Morning News would be regularly kicking the Today show into third place. The ratings started slipping in 1984 and Sawyer left the show.

The significance of that date and place was that my maternal grandfather died in the Seattle area on that day, which happened to be my mother's birthday. Her sister/my aunt was living in Lynnwood at the time and was watching over my grandfather during his last few months.

Lie Detector was supposed to be the 'big hit' in syndication, but it flopped. Pat Sajak even mentioned that in an interview with the Television Academy several years ago. Needless to say, he had the big syndication hit instead.

The listings ending at 1:00 AM makes me think this came from the Seattle Times, which had a similar grid format. They were going from 7AM-1AM most of the '80s and into the '90s.

I'm guessing Tattletales was a one-day delay even with the preemption to KCPQ. Casey Treat is still the main pastor at Christian Faith Center in Federal Way.

It was from the Seattle Times from genealogybank.com, as well as the Tacoma News-Tribune on newspapers.com.

Yup...I miss the days of viewing the Seattle Times microfilm at the local libraries there. CWU does have microfilm of the Times/P-I, Yakima Herald and Daily Record (Ellensburg) but I never have time to go in and print anything out!

That's what I've done too. In addition to the vintage TV schedules on newspaper microfilms, I also enjoy viewing vintage department store ads. (The Bon Marche, Frederick & Nelson, Lamonts)

The Daily Record archives are also available on the Google News Archive.

Speaking of Seattle TV grids, didn't they also include KVOs and Vancouver stations?

I use those Daily Record archives quite often to look for certain dates that something was aired on a Yakima station, like a weekend movie. Yes, Seattle Times included KVOs and CBUT. In the early-mid '80s, BCTV-8 (CHAN-TV) was included as well. No CKVU or CHEK to my knowledge.

I wish the Yakima Herald microfilm was available online. Tri-City Herald used to be many years ago, and they must have had 15 or more broadcast stations in the listings - Spokane, T.C., a few from Seattle, CHEK-6, etc. But the Spokesman-Review duplicated them throughout much of the '80s by including Tri-Cities stations. They were eliminated from the paper around February 1993.

Good news--the Tri-City Herald is now on newspapers.com.

Yes, just saw that.

Their TV listings stop at the end of August 1992...for some reason they did not include the TV Guide after that.

Ah, no love for Pyramid or Press Your Luck on channel 6. Odd as they cleared the 10 and 10:30 CBS shows previously (Pyramid, Child's Play).

When did they clear Pyramid?

Before the 1983 season as I recall. Child's Play wasn't aired in our market (Atlanta) so I asked a friend who lived in Orlando to record an episode and the tail of that day's Pyramid was on it. (Pyramid did air here, on an independent on delay).

I saw on here that In the fall of 1982 that WCPX aired reruns of Mary Tyler Moore in place of Pyramid.

Upon further review, you're correct. That Pyramid show on the tape I had was what we had in Atlanta and I sent that to my friend for recording. I skimmed through Google News Archive, and yes, Mary Tyler Moore did bump Pyramid with Child's Play from CBS following.

My primary source for these newspaper-based schedules is newspapers.com, which has the Orlando Sentinel among their archives.

Mine too

ABC's Friday Night Movie "Spraggue" (yes that's the proper spelling) was a failed TV pilot, which explains both the odd 90 minute running time and a movie premiere in June.

Which is odder, KMOD airing "Mayberry RFD" in 1984 or WOFL airing "Fish" reruns at any time? I wonder if "Fish" was sold as part of the "Barney Miller" rerun package, just like "Ropers" episodes being included in "Three's Company" packages.

I put in "The Joker's World" instead of "Wild". LOL!

WOFL ran HAWAII FIVE-O for an astonishing number of years, dating back to 1984 as seen here, up through 2002. 18 years with relatively few breaks during that time.

I misspelled stalwarts as "statlwarts".

Didn't realize Ch. 20 picked up Merv. He eventually returned to KRON, and ended up on KTSF.

Woah under KEMO TV 20 the part where Chinese programming is mentioned. That was later taken by KTSF-TV and once James Gabbert took over TV 20 as KTZO it became a viable station.

An absolutely amazing schedule. And it was all for free and no need to check what streaming options you had!

Most surprising: The Goodies (huge in the UK, virtually unknown here) on American TV. I noticed Morecambe and Wise on the Las Vegas listings, was there some push for British comedians at this time?

We had the Goodies in Atlanta. Ran from late 1977 to around mid 1978. I have an audio of an episode somewhere in the flotsam and jetsam of my stuff.

Remembering great programming all thanks to member support on KPBS 15 San Diego!!

The reason I chose that date for both Northern and Southern California schedules, let alone those of the SF Chronicle and LA Times, was that I started 4th grade that day in Los Osos (San Luis Obispo County), having just moved from the Bay Area and getting my first exposure to Los Angeles TV (Channels 5, 9, 11, 13). I also chose it for the premieres of Hour Magazine and Your New Day, plus the revivals of To Tell the Truth and You Bet Your Life, as well as Captain Kangaroo's season premiere.

One interesting fact about the LA Times' schedules, is that until late 1983, they listed Palm Springs channels 36 KMIR (NBC) and 42 KPLM/KESQ (ABC) in their station roster, but not in the schedule with the other stations as indicated by this disclaimer "Not listed in log". Does anyone know why they did that?

How much of this was that the Los Angeles TV stations had translators in Palm Springs at one point. KPSP-TV Palm Springs CBS affiliate did not exist until 2002 around this time Palm Springs had KNXT/KCBS-TV Los Angeles as the default CBS affiliate in the market. Also KTLA, KHJ/KCAL9, KTTV, KCOP-TV and PBS affiliates KOCE, KCET having translators or cable carriage in Palm Springs TV market.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/KCET>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/KOCE-TV>

I've just received from eBay the Los Angeles TV Guide from Sept. 6-12, 1980, and they list the Muppet Show (7:30 p.m. ch. 2) guest as Doug Henning instead of Jonathan Winters as listed in the LA Times. A few other SoCal newspapers (Torrance Daily Breeze, Escondido Times-Advocate) have Doug Henning listed as well.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/KESQ-TV>

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/KMIR-TV>

In other words the first Palm Springs Specific local TV stations did not come out until 1968. Prior to 1968 translators from Los Angeles were a factor here.

KEYC in El Centro/Yuma had a translator in the Palm Springs area that brought CBS programming there, although KCBS was still available on cable in the region. When KEYC swapped from CBS to Fox in 1994, so did the Palm Springs translator; it eventually became the standalone Fox affiliate for the Coachella Valley--KDFX-CD. For what it's worth...KESQ and KEYC are sister stations, both owned by the News-Press & Gazette Company, who also controls all of the major network affiliations (except for the Entravision-owned Univision/UniMas duopoly) in the Yuma/El Centro DMA.

I believe it around that same time the Los Angeles Metro edition of TV Guide added KMIR and KESQ to its channel lineup, and before that they listed KEYT Santa Barbara and KCOY Santa Maria in the lineup. However, the Palm Springs stations in TV Guide were listed by their cable channels (at the time)--KMIR on 6, KESQ on 3.

KPSP was where Rich Fields was the meteorologist just before he was chosen as the new Price is Right announcer, succeeding the late Rod Roddy.

Lol Milwaukee is not northern Wisconsin!!! Such a misleading title.

Anyways interesting to see both WITI and WISN aired both AMC and Y&R at 9AM I imagine on delay?

Interesting that WTMJ is airing "Jeopardy" and "Wheel of Fortune" so far apart, but not so surprising "Jeopardy" gets the much weaker slot. Now "Jeopardy" makes headlines with everything it does and I'd bet most people don't even know "Wheel" is still on the air.

And wow, a "Hanging' In" listing in the U.S! A big hit on the CBC that went nowhere here, although since my hometown in Washington State got the CBC quite a few of my classmates were fans.

Interesting that WTMJ is airing "Jeopardy" and "Wheel of Fortune" so far apart, but not so surprising "Jeopardy" gets the much weaker slot. Now "Jeopardy" makes headlines with everything it does and I'd bet most people don't even know "Wheel" is still on the air.

For most Central time zone markets, Jeopardy! always aired/airs mid-afternoons (sometimes late mornings in some markets, such as Houston today), and including when WTMJ had the show. When it and Wheel moved to WDJT in 2005, J! was placed at 6pm where it's been ever since, with Wheel taking the 6:30 spot.

Hangin' In was also picked up by WGN in Chicago

Thanks for the clarification. I swear I hate it when some of these UNGRATEFUL kids be so desperate to ask for a TV schedule and then only post a single station or in @Cool_guy81 's case only list certain stations when I use to put in some hard work to ensure everything got listed and it took a couple hours to put in. These kids don't even say thank you at all 🙄🙄🙄

Ehhh 80+ year old Pat Sajak did make headlines recently when he asked 60+ Vanna White if she has ever watched opera in the nude LMAO. Totally inappropriate for sure but Vanna laughed it off and didn't think it should be controversial.

11:30 Honeymooners

This was from the day Hank Aaron hit his 715th home run, taking over the lead from Babe Ruth(714 career HR's).

That's just what I mentioned under ch. 2 WSB. That was why I chose that day for that market.

I was working at a pizza restaurant that night. No TV in the place so I had to be content to seeing replays of the homer.

That was the case in the pre-VCR era.

What if Aaron hadn't hit 715 that night? Well according to listings of the time the next Braves telecast, local or national, wasn't until April 17(!). Imagine if the historic home run was hit on a radio-only game.

I'm sure the Braves and the then-WTCG Channel 17 would have put additional games to the TV schedule until Hammerin' Hank broke the record. WTCG had taken over from WSB as the over-the-air TV flagship of the Braves the previous season (1973), and them being an independent (and WSB as the NBC affiliate back then), there wouldn't have been any worry of network obligations to worry about. When WSB aired Braves games, it was about 25 games a season.

Back then, WTCG was airing 50 Braves games a season, which was pretty standard for most teams in those days, in terms of the number of local telecasts, unless you were in New York City (where you had about 100 Yankees and 120 Mets games on local TV, via WPIX and WOR, respectively) or Chicago (with both the Cubs and White Sox airing about 130-140 games apiece on WGN and WSNS, respectively). It wasn't until Ted Turner's purchase of the team in 1976 that the Braves started airing more than 100 games a year on what eventually became Superstation WTBS.

I had heard (and correct me if wrong) that until Aaron hit #715 that NBC would break from whatever was on, network or local, every time he came up to bat. Locally on radio, Milo Hamilton and Ernie Johnson were in the booth, and word was that Hamilton insisted on being at the mic whenever Aaron came to bat whether it was his turn or Johnson's.

No surprise about Milo Hamilton...he was an egomaniac.

I'm a little surprised WCCO wasn't yet doing local morning news. However, WCCO was a CBS O&O at this point, and I think CBS was a little late to the local morning news game on most of its O&Os.

Yes they were...I remember back in the early 90s, WBBM CBS 2 in Chicago had Rush Limbaugh at 6am and the CBS Morning News at 6:30am while other stations were doing morning newscasts. I thought it was odd for a major market station.

3 PM on ch. 2--Wasn't that when Scooby Doo started its syndicated repeats run? (The station that played it here was owned by Pat Robertson, so any depictions of ghosts in the opening title montage got edited and replaced).

Yes it was. What station are you referring to that Pat Robertson owned?

Then it was independent WANX/channel 46 (Atlanta). Today it's CBS affiliate WGCL.

ABC (7, 11, 13) had 'Love Boat' reruns at 10 a.m.

KTEH (54) is missing 7:30 p.m.

Well now, how could I have possibly forgotten 'The Love Boat' in that slot? As for KTEH at 7:30 pm, it was 'Slim Cuisine'.

I notice the CBS stations 5 and 10 here were choosing to air Young and the Restless at 11AM-Noon with Search for Tomorrow at 12:30 PM. CBS messed things up by moving Y&R to Noon -1 PM Central/Pacific Time in 1980 and stations had to air it on a delay (except West Coast) or pre-record a feed if I recall, to keep their local programming at Noon. This displaced Search for Tomorrow to 12:30 PM which later led to it moving to NBC. It wasn't until 1982, that CBS offered the dual feed of Y&R (11 or 11:30 AM) for stations.

Sig Sakowicz Superstar" was a locally hosted interview show.

Two very odd evening news decisions: KVVU airing Independent Network News at 6:30 (virtually every other station saved it for prime time) and KTNV airing Reynolds/Jennings/Max Robinson at 5pm. A number of Mountain Zone affiliates did that, but this is a first time seeing a Pacific Zone affiliate doing that.

"Morecambe and Wise" is an interesting program. Iconic comedians in the UK, their show was used by Benny Hill's distributor to fill out the Hill package. Anyone know how long they were offered or if any other comedians were packaged in the same way?

I wouldn't know the answer to that question.

I just found out that The Price is Right was shut out by KLAS from Sept 8, 1980 to Sept. 4, 1984. They moved the Young and the Restless to TPIR's slot and put in Hour Magazine in Y&R's.

It's interesting they would choose to pre-empt a popular first-run show like The Price is Right and choose to air reruns of Jeffersons and Alice from 9-10 AM. I loved watching TPIR as a kid, I can't imagine our station pre-empting it.

I like what Tom Kennedy said on the Password Plus finale a couple of years later. He said he wasn't replacing Allen, he was filling in while Allen was "taking care of other business."

I am guessing that WAPT is not airing Wheel of Fortune & Jeopardy! back-to-back anymore.

Nope not anymore, that's because WAPT 16 still carries Wheel of Fortune, but it airs weeknights at 6:30pm, but Jeopardy! however now airs on WLBT 3, weekdays at 3:30pm

It was a weird situation at WAPT a few years ago. Jeopardy ran on WAPT at 4:30 pm for years. Suddenly, Judy Judy got a double run at 4 (original time slot) & 4:30 pm. Jeopardy spent the next two or three years in the 12:15 am (or 1:15) time slot. I guess when the contract was up for renewal, WLBT jumped at the chance to get Jeopardy and did. I maybe a little fuzzy on the number of years in the late hours.

Jeopardy runs as anabate123 said on WLBT 3 at 11:30 am (repeat) and 3:30 pm (new).

Thank you for these listings where are the other channels?

WOR aired evangelical shows on Sunday Prime Time!? That's something a down on its luck Deep South UHF would do, not a Big Apple VHF station.

The funny thing is when I watched WOR on cable in the late 80s, the station seemed very professional. Yet a lot of these early 80s listings have a very cheap looking feel to them. When did WOR up its game in scheduling?

I think sometime in the 1980s.

Did a little digging online and in the early 80s WOR's owner RKO was in a licensing dispute with the FCC. Why put money into a station you may be stripped of? The station was bought by media giant MCA in 1987--about the time I started watching the station.

By 1988-89 WWOR upgraded their programming schedule with sitcom reruns like Who's the Boss, The Cosby Show, etc.

Thank you for these listings where is the UHF channels in these listings and the day before?

When it comes to NYC, I prefer to use only its VHF channels, partly because they're better known and viewed, and to avoid exceeding the 10,000 character limit. You can view those and other TV listings in newspapers.com for one, where I usually get my schedules from as I post.

Kristian Alfonso as a celebrity on "Celebrity Hot Potato"? Really?!? Figures it was an NBC show.

They've had celebrities from the other networks. All game shows with celebrity players, that is.

Oh I was laughing at the fact of Alfonso's appearance as a "celebrity" this point in her career. She had only been on Days of Our Lives for barely a year and had not yet graced us with dreary roles on Falcon Crest and Melrose Place.

I remember seeing clips of Wallace & Ladmo in the "Children's TV" episode of the PBS series "Pioneers of Television".

This was the last NBA Finals to be aired on tape delay!

appy 41st birthday, Danielle "Topanga" Fishel!

Does Fishel act anymore? I knew they did that Girl Meets World show several years back. Both her and Savage were a fun young couple together. It seems the rest of the cast appears to be steady in voiceover work these days. William Russ, who I personally never cared for, keeps popping up in guest roles on various dramas.

As for the schedule itself, it's hilarious that KTVK basically ran all the soaps that were 1230-430PM ET 930AM-130PM MST(which would be the same as PDT this of year lol). Only funny because General Hospital was wildly hugely successful in 1981 and folks attributed to its later afternoon time slot. East coast bias much lol

Given that she has two young sons, Adler (almost 3) and Keaton (9 months), I guess it's safe to say she needs some time off acting to raise them.

she did an episode of Christy's Kitchen Throwback on YouTube with Christy Carlson Romano who voiced Kim Possible if you haven't checked out that video, go check it out.

10:30 Tonight Show - Guest: Thalassa Cruso; Performer: Jimmy Buffett

11:30 Benny Hill

AM

12:00 Tomorrow Coast to Coast - Guests: Lee Marvin, Debbie Reynolds, Tina Turner, Sylvia Kristel

I've never seen a show tucked in between the "Tonight Show" and "Tomorrow" before, much less "Benny Hill" (Benny almost always appeared on indie stations). Who else did this, and did any stations stick shows between "Tonigh" and Letterman when that show premiered in 1982?

I recall in the late 90's and early 00's KOB in Albuquerque squeezed in Access Hollywood between Tonight and Late Night

Retro: KPBS-TV Channel 15-San Diego, CA - Membership Week (Complete Schedule)- December 6, 1974 through December 15, 1974

Here is the complete schedule of the December Membership Awareness Week, the second or third 1974 membership campaign conducted by PBS affiliate KPBS-TV in San Diego, CA for Friday December 6, 1974 through Sunday December 15, 1974!! ☐ ☐

So I don't know if KPBS had another membership pledge campaign in 1973 before the Public Television Awareness Week 1974, because on May 20 through May 24, 1974 the station conducted its very first Auction!!

If anybody knows about this, let me know in the comments please!!

If you're wondering WWOR's "Neighbours" is indeed the Australian soap opera; it only aired for a few months in 1991.

It also aired on KCOP in L.A. practically concurrently with the WWOR showings.

I never understood why teachers back then sent home notes telling parents to have their kids watch

Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue like it was homework?

They did that?

If anything was effective at telling kids about drug abuse, it was the Bravestarr episode "The Price." The kid in that episode actually dies of an overdose.

In a similar such tragic context, there was that Fat Albert episode where that kid was killed in that gang crossfire.

Yes in elementary school back in 1990

9 KCAL (Ind.)

AM

9:00 Everyday (local talk show)

1:00 Everyday (possibly a replay of the 9:00 AM broadcast)

The latter airing must be the short-lived Everyday with Joan Lunden (which I thought was on KCOP since it was produced at future sister station WWOR).

I remember Everyday aired in Iowa also on KDSM 17

For those wondering about House Party on KNBC...it was a daytime talk show produced by sister station WRC in Washington, DC, and was hosted by Steve Doocy (now of Fox & Friends). As a result, whatever NBC had in the 10am PT hour during the 1989-90 TV season, KNBC shifted those network shows to late-night, usually after the replay of 11pm news that aired after Later with Bob Costas/Friday Night Videos.

That's interesting, considering I have mentioned Art Linkletter's show of that same name under "Small Talk" (CBS @ 8:00 pm).

I never understood why teachers back then sent home notes telling parents to have their kids watch Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue like it was homework?

what if they didn't have a TV?

Yes in elementary school back in 1990

and they sent VHS copies to every school in the country

I don't remember them sending notes at my elementary school. We did have to watch the special at school at least 4 times a month.

Regarding the half-hour Fantasy Island repeats, Wikipedia states, "When reruns of the series went into syndication, a half-hour version was offered, in which each hour-long show was split to two separate half-hour shows in which only one guest's story was told in each half-hour episode".

Great lineup.

As well as a great trip and a performance of a lifetime!

KVII...nothing from ABC between 9AM and 1PM. Interesting that they carried Port Charles on delay at 3PM, but outright preempted All My Children.

Is this the nationwide feed of WGN, the one to meet Syndex requirements? (That's probably why you see ancient shows like "Fibber McGee" listed.) If it is, what did Chicago see?

That's what was listed in the Iowa edition tv guide.

That's what was listed in the Iowa edition tv guide.

At 5:30 was WKRP in Cincinnati and 10:00 was Newhart. Abbott & Costello blocked Cheers at 6:00.

It is unusual to see how the Bold and the Beautiful at 1:30 pm was pre-empted with Superior Court.

B&B was in its first full season at this point; it replaced the soap opera Capitol several months back (March 1987). Because of that, CBS shifted around its afternoon schedule a bit, moving As the World Turns from 1:30pm ET/12:30pm CT/PT to 2pm ET/1pm CT/PT, and slotting Bold & the Beautiful as the lead-out to The Young & the Restless (in many markets).

B&B also had some clearance issues, as some CBS affiliates (such as WTVT in Tampa) pre-empted the show or aired it in late nights.

I do remember reading some of the west coast CBS stations didn't show B&B until the early to mid 90s because they had dropped the half hour dating back to Search for Tomorrow days and never showed Capitol.

So they replaced Card Sharks with High Rollers (w/ Wink Martindale). I remember that day when Mikhail Gorbachev arrived in Washington for his third summit meeting with President Reagan. I watched it on NBC in California during the Today Show's slot, so chances are that those morning game shows were pre-empted by CBS News coverage of that.

Did channel 44 really cut the "Outer Limits" in half to fit it into a 30-minute time slot, or did that movie actually start at 8:30? I'm guessing the latter, since the running time of "The Guy Who Came Back" is only 91 minutes -- and I don't think anyone would have dared to have run 59 minutes of commercials in a 2 1/2 hour time slot back then.

My extreme bad! I should've put 8:30 for "The Guy Who Came Back. Thanks for noting that. I can't edit it again.

7:30 The Price is Right - Tom Kennedy

And J! and WOF are still going in syndication for a myriad of reasons, while Kennedy nighttime TPIR just fizzled out after one go.

And it was only their second and third seasons respectively.

In our market (Atlanta) the Tom Kennedy Price aired at 5:30 PM on WSB/ch. 2 for three months then got yanked. It reappeared the following February where ch. 2 slotted it at 11 AM and 11:30 Sunday mornings.

Syndie TPIR on Sundays? That's something I've never heard of before.

I guess WSB wanted to keep some uniformity with the show as it aired (still does) at 11 AM on CBS.

As good a reason as any, IMO!

Syndie TPIR on Sundays? That's something I've never heard of before.

The Doug Davidson version several years later would air two episodes back-to-back at random times on weekends on the local Fox station in Philly, based on when network sports aired. If there wasn't an available time on the weekend, it would be split up to air one episode on Monday and one on Tuesday at noon, replacing MASH reruns.

I guess syndication, by what you're saying, means you air it when you can find a slot and/or when you can find a channel.

In those cases, it was probably the best they could get. In the Philly example, no one else was taking it, so that was...something. What was interesting was those days it aired at noon, it was immediately after the network version over on CBS.

One other station, KNBN Channel 30, was all financial and stock market coverage. The one exception was The John Davidson Show at 4:30 PM.

As most of you know, that Dallas episode "Who Done It" was crowned the highest-rated prime time broadcast of all time, breaking the previous record holder, the 8th and final episode of Roots from January 30, 1977. It enjoyed that reign for only two years and three months when it was unseated by the M*A*S*H finale "Goodbye, Farewell and Amen", which retains that reign to this day!

This was also the day of the deadly fire at the MGM Grand (now Bally's) in Las Vegas. For those who perished, I bet most of them were anxiously looking forward to watching Dallas that night. :cry:

Rolling Stone on the Dallas episode in their Dubious Achievement Awards: "Bobby discovered in shower. Where's Norman Bates when you need him?"

RandTV said:

11:00 CBS Late Movie: "Billy Jack" (1971, Drama/Action) - Tom Laughlin, Delores Taylor

NOTE - Several other CBS stations, including their O&O's, aired "Freebie and the Bean" (1974, Comedy/Action) for the CBS Late Movie.

KDFW was likely running The CBS Late Movie a week behind at 11 p.m., as opposed to the network time of 10:30 p.m. Some CBS affiliates that delayed The CBS Late Movie did it on a one-week delay, but some did it on a one-day delay. I think WTVF in Nashville did a same-night delay, but WTVF delayed The CBS Late Movie to 11:30 p.m. (CT) (as opposed to 11 p.m.), which was an exception. I could very well be wrong, but to my knowledge, WTVF was the only CBS affiliate allowed by the network to delay The CBS Late Movie to 11:30 (CT).

Any idea what the cause of that delay was? Perhaps the actors' strike of that year?

KDFW tape-delayed The CBS Late Movie so they could air a syndicated rerun of All in the Family at 10:30. CBS fed The CBS Late Movie to affiliates at 10:30 CT.

Delaying the late night programming of their networks in favor of syndicated programming was very common practice for both CBS and ABC affiliates prior to the mid-nineties. This was especially true in the Central and Mountain time zones, where that half hour at 10:30 could be very profitably filled with syndicated programming that would often get better ratings than the network programming that would have otherwise aired at that time. In many markets, syndicated sitcom reruns on the CBS or ABC affiliate would outrate the first half hour of the "Tonight Show" on NBC.

Two corrections: It should be '30 Minutes' and 'WABC'.

Could you post the source for this schedule? I have 3 suburban newspaper schedules [not always the most up-to-date] that indicate that @ 8:30PM on WPIX there is a movie ["Little Boy Lost"]. Also this listing does not cover the full 24 broadcast days.

New York Times, Daily News, and Newsday. The latter two are from newspapers.com. Did you want me to post more post-midnight listings (full 24 hours)?

Thank you RandTV for these listings

I'll fulfill that request for you.

7 - Movie: "The Tall T" (1957, Western) - Randolph Scott, Maureen O'Sullivan

2:00

11 - College Football: Michigan vs. Notre Dame

2:05

2 - Movie: "Magic Carpet" (1972, Comedy) - Susan Saint James, Robert Pratt

11 - Twilight Zone

In regards to "Little Boy Lost", some area papers list it in Channel 11's 8:30 PM slot, while others list "Battle of the Las Vegas Showgirls", including the New York Daily News where I mostly got this schedule from. Apparently one of those listings is incorrect.

Thanks. I would go with the Daily News since it owned WPIX at the time

No hard feelings I hope.

One Chicago channel, 44 WSNS is unlisted in the Tribune's guide of that date, unless it was through ONTV. Correct me if I'm wrong on that. This just before WSNS took WCIU's SIN-turned-Univision affiliation (July 1) as the latter took on the new NetSpan-turned- Telemundo affiliation. They would then switch affiliations on January 10, 1989.

I take it that WSNS/44 is not listed because they were finishing up their run with ON-TV. And at the time, WYCC was not WTTW's sister station. WYCC was signed on by the City Colleges of Chicago in 1983. They were/are co-owned between 1965 and 1974, and since 2018.

Thanks for straightening the records out for me.

I notice on Independent station WGNO 26, there's a 10:30pm program called "Jack Paar Tonight." I didn't know that after quitting the Tonight Show, Paar apparently returned to late night TV a few years later? I guess this was a syndicated offering? It probably didn't last long.

Note the spelling "Tonite", to avoid any association from the NBC Tonight Show franchise.

Ah, a day before I turned 17. I remember the Riggs-King tennis match...watched it but didn't see what all the hoopla was about.

About the listing on WVUE Ch. 8 back in '73 at 5:00 was the ABC Evening News then Alec Gifford with local news would be at 6:00pm instead of 5, because Channel 8 didn't add a 5pm newscast in that period until 1982

You may be right. It either could've been an error in the Times-Picayune's schedule, or it may have been a slight rescheduling due to the King vs. Riggs match.

I was DJ-ing at WRNO, could not afford a hamburger!

Regarding that day's Match Game '73 episode (2:30 PM on Ch. 4), it had been long believed to be the day their infamous "Batman" episode aired. The Mark Goodson Fandom's Match Game episode guide has recently changed that episode's airdate to Monday, September 17. The panelists were Bobby Van, his wife Elaine Joyce, Nanette Fabray, and the regulars Brett Somers, Charles Nelson Reilly, and Richard Dawson (passed away ten years ago today). It was likely the Watergate hearings that altered that schedule and some further research about it. Once I get some confirmations, I'll let you know which panel roster is correct.

I notice on Independent station WGNO 26, there's a 10:30pm program called "Jack Paar Tonight." I didn't know that after quitting the Tonight Show, Paar apparently returned to late night TV a few years later? I guess this was a syndicated offering? It probably didn't last long.

Actually it was part of "ABC Wide World of Entertainment", a mix of talk and entertainment shows. WGNO must have picked it up when WVUE passed on the program. What I've read of it Paar thought it was still 1960 and not in a good way.

The program that interests me is that 5 minute Spanish news program on WWL. It's odd to think New Orleans had Spanish language news (even that short) when even the big LA stations didn't in 1973.

Wonder if WWL's Spanish report truncated the end of Sunrise Semester?

CBS Thursday Night Movie? That's so random as usually Simon & Simon and Knots Landing aired on Thursday nights.

Didn't realize ABC was still airing Linda Ellerbee's Our World at this point after The Charmings failed catastrophically in the slot against Cosby. Of course Our World, while smart TV, essentially DOA in the slot as well.

At that time, anything that ran against Cosby and Family Ties was DOA. As for the CBS movie, it may have actually been labeled as the CBS Special Movie, beginning with those aforementioned shows' pre-emption disclaimer, "Simon & Simon and Knots Landing will not be seen tonight..."

And to think critics bemoaned the return of Jeopardy! because Alex Trebek, the guy who did High Rollers, was the host instead of Art Fleming. It wouldn't be long before those critics started apologizing.

KIVI airing LOVING at 9:30 AM directly off the ET feed is hilariously poor time slot. I'm surprised they didn't carry Edge of Night even though the show was on its final legs (it ended in December 84).

Not that weird for the Mountain zone--CBS's long lived soap "Love of Life" aired on most MTZ stations at 9:30am. IIRC, none of the networks offered Mountain zone feeds until the late 80s so airing direct East Coast feeds of daytime shows was surprisingly common.

I see KBCI actually did this with the entire CBS daytime schedule except for $25,000 Pyramid and Press Your Luck which aired at 2 and 2:30 after Guiding Light.

This incarnation of Jeopardy premiered on my 6th birthday.

Just saw KBCI's current schedule (now KBOI) and they still air TPIR at 9 and Y&R at 10. I don't understand why they don't air an hour of news at 11am or noon since they air Y&R at 10 (the noon/11am feed). They could air Feud at 11 and then B&B at 11:30 (the eastern feed). They air Feud at 11:30 and noon then B&B at 12:30. If they are going to air a half hour of news at 11am then they might as well air Y&R at 11:30 before B&B and Feud at 10 after Price Is Right. Or at 9 and TPIR at 10. The kicker is they air a noon news on their CW sister station as well.

When I was doing the Radio side in 73~75 there KBOI-TV used (looks like what I remember was there) were a pair of upgraded Ampex VR-2000 Quad VTRs to delay network programming and play anything else that wasn't live. One was owned by CBS and was "loaned" to Ch 2. It was a real keystone cops routine at times.

If you look at old schedules for Milwaukee in the 80s, the local stations aired Y&R and All My Children at 9am on a one day delay. It is odd to see those soaps both being moved to 9am in the same market.

At one time WBTB aired Y&R at 10am on a one day delay, when it first expanded to an hour. It later moved to in pattern when Top O'The Day moved to 11:30am from noon which put TPIR on a one day delay instead at 10:30am.

The network schedules for that day list live news coverage of the Apollo 16 splashdown when it actually occurred the day before. Was this an error in scheduling or was the splashdown originally scheduled for Friday the 28th?

CH 9 is WWOR

Channel 9 was WOR-TV at the time.

Correct. They became WWOR in 1987. The billing up in the listing is incorrect as WGN is in Chicago.

Whoops! How could I have done that? Those two big-city three-letter channel 9's, WOR and WGN are pretty easy to get mixed up with! My extreme bad and apologies!

Same can be the case for the two Metromedia/Fox-owned channel 5's, WNEW/WNYW New York and WTTG Washington.

Nice TV lineup have the TV schedules for April 29-30, 1972?

Except for the WGN error when I meant WOR. 😊

No "Saved by the Bell" on channel 11?

I know that WHO 13 in Des Moines aired News after the today show on Saturday Morning with maybe an hour or two of NBC Saturday morning shows before syndicated or sports programming. With the shows they didn't air they aired on Sunday Morning after their News and meet the press.

No nothing from NBC till basketball. This is when network stations began shutting out cartoons for local news. I think WPXI was the first in the country to do this. KDKA followed suit, then it began catching on nationally culminating in the summer of '92 with NBC replacing Saturday cartoons with the Saturday Today show.

NBC cartoon block was replaced by TNBC for teen audiences soon after.

For what it's worth, the NBC Saturday morning lineup around this time that WPXI preempted was:

8a - Camp Candy (cartoon with John Candy running a summer camp),

8:30a - Captain N and the Super Mario Brothers (Nintendo related)

9:30a - Gravedale High (teenage monsters in high school with the teacher voiced by Rick Moranis)

10a - Kid N Play (cartoon featuring the rap group, as this was when the House Party movies were in the theaters)

10:30a - Alvin and the Chipmunks

11a - Saved By the Bell

11:30a - Guys Next Door (a Saved By the Bell-esque show about a boy band)

This was the finale for Secret Storm on CBS. The following week had CBS running a special series billed as CBS Daytime Playhouse starting at 2:00 Central (bumping Price Is Right and Match Game '74 for the week) with Tattletales premiering at 3 on February 18.

Not that I'm a follower of soap operas, but thank you for putting in that omitted key trivial note for me.

You're welcome! In our city, Atlanta, Secret Storm aired on a delay to 1 PM the next day. Our CBS affiliate (WAGA) replaced it the following week with What's My Line? and upon its debut blacked out Tattletales.

What a week in '73 that was. The week prior we had returned to school from Christmas vacation (I was in 10th grade), when I developed a cold that kept me in bed the rest of the week. The following week the mother of all ice storms hammered the south which shut schools down another week.

Where were you living that time?

Atlanta. We get the occasional snow in winter but that ice storm of '73 was insane.

I think you mentioned that after I posted Atlanta's schedule from the day Hank Aaron hit his historic homer.

I will list the stations according to the cable channel lineup I had during my time in the Bay Area from 1973 to 1980. The broadcast channel number, if different from cable channel number will be paired by a slash.

Here is the "checkerboard" schedule for WITI's 8:00 AM weekday slot, which each featured ABC's Sunday morning children's programs which they pre-empted for mostly evangelical programs.

M: Bugs Bunny

Tu: Make a Wish

W: Kid Power

Th: Osmonds

F: H. R. Pufnstuf

Our WXIA (WAIL and WQXI before that) did the same thing up to 1973.

WITI must have had something local Saturdays at 8 as that's when ABC aired Bugs Bunny.

From my 70s issues of TV Guide:

--KTWO Casper WY would air Saturday morning programs on weekday afternoons; as a triple affiliate, it had plenty of shows to spread around.

--KRDO Colorado Springs would air Sunday morning ABC programs (preempted for religion) at 8am weekdays. But instead of running the 90 minute "Kids Are People Too" intact they cut it into three half hour programs aired Tue to Thurs!
